

Transfer on Death Designation Affidavit for a Titled Vehicle

The titled owner of a car, boat, or outboard motor can name one or more beneficiaries

What are the benefits?

The owner keeps all the rights of ownership while they are alive. For example, the owner may:

- Sell or transfer ownership, OR
- Remove or change the beneficiary by filing a new title.

A beneficiary has no right to the property while the owner is alive. For example:

- The beneficiary cannot: transfer, encumber, or give away their interest.
- A beneficiary's bankruptcy, debt collection, or divorce does not involve the property.

The titled vehicle passes to the beneficiary without involving Probate Court.

Ownership is changed with the County Title Department.

What it does NOT do...

- Reduce the owner's countable assets for Medicaid eligibility. Seek advice from an attorney for possible exceptions.
- Avoid estate tax.
- Protect the asset from the owner's creditors. Secured loans follow the property.
- Avoid conflict among beneficiaries after the owner's death.
